

Call for Proposals

DigitalStream 2008 Theme

The Next Decade—Vision and Transformation

Emerging Technologies in Teaching Languages and Cultures

10th Annual DigitalStream Conference at California State University, Monterey Bay

March 17-19, 2008

Post-conference Workshops March 19, 2008

Keynote Speakers:

Barbara Sawhill, Oberlin University
Rebecca Oxford, University of Maryland

Appropriate presentation areas include:

- Technology Integration in the Language Classroom
- Teaching Strategies and Activities for Using Technology in the Language Class
- The Use of Technology in Language Proficiency Assessment
- Language Learning Lab Management and Issues
- Distance & Online Language Learning
- Technology Applications for Teaching At Risk Languages
- Creating Effective Virtual Language Learning Environments and Issues
- Demonstrations of the Use of Technology in Teaching Language and Cultures
- Research in Language Learning and Technology
- Workshops related to above topics

Proposal Guidelines:

- Proposals are limited to a 150-word abstract
- Proposal priority review date December 15, 2007

All language teachers (K-12 plus higher education) are encouraged to submit proposals!

We are accepting proposals via the DigitalStream website:

<http://csumb.edu/digitalstream>

If you have any questions, please contact us at: digitalstream@csumb.edu / 831-582-4450

Yoshiko Saito-Abbott, Ph.D.
CSUMB, Professor of World
Languages and Cultures

Richard P. Donovan
Extended Education & International
Programs

Gus Leonard
President, SWALLT